Operation 'Skylight'

Indian Army tested the operational readiness of its satellite-based systems under this operation.

'Satellite-based Systems' provide communication facilities to military's ground and air-based systems. It also acts as a backup in case terrestrial connectivity is disrupted.

Currently, Army doesn't have a dedicated satellite system (unlike Air-force and Navy). GSAT-7B satellite will be launched for use by Army.

GSAT-7 series of the satellite is meant for defence services.

Porcupine strategy

Taiwan is planning to use this strategy to fight back in case China attempts to occupy it by force

The “porcupine doctrine”, which was proposed in 2008 by US Naval War College research professor William S Murray, is a strategy of asymmetric warfare focused on fortifying a weak state’s defences to exploit the enemy’s weaknesses rather than taking on its strengths.

It is about building defences that would ensure that Taiwan “could be attacked and damaged but not defeated, at least without unacceptably high costs and risks”.
